

Building a jamaah pipeline, not just chasing clicks.

People don't decide to go on Umrah in a single click. They research for months, consult their families, and plan their finances first. This campaign was built to meet them exactly where they are — at every stage of that journey.

A note on methodology: Revenue and closing figures are tracked on a monthly basis, not per-lead attribution. A jamaah who closed this month may have entered the pipeline weeks or months prior. This is a Blended Monthly Revenue approach, which is more meaningful for high-ticket products with long decision cycles.

01 — Context

Umrah isn't e-commerce. The strategy can't be either.

CAMPAIGN PHILOSOPHY

"In 60 days, this campaign filled the pipeline with 486 leads and contributed to IDR 614 million in revenue, in an industry where the average person takes 2–4 months before committing to the trip."

Ads aren't a closing tool here. They're a trust-building tool. The goal was to make sure Jannah Travel stayed top-of-mind throughout the entire decision journey — from the moment someone first thinks about Umrah, all the way to when they're finally ready to register.

TOF Awareness

Reach cold audiences who don't know Jannah Travel yet. Build brand recall.

MOF Nurture

Retarget warm audiences who've already engaged. Introduce packages & selling points.

BOF Trigger

Push hot audiences to start a WhatsApp chat. Hand it off to the CS team.

CS Closing

CS nurtures leads on WhatsApp through to deposit. Can take 1–6 months.

02 — Business Outcome

The numbers that actually matter

Closing data sourced from Jannah Travel's internal Google Sheets tracking. Monthly revenue reflects total jamaah who paid a deposit or completed payment that month — from both Meta Ads and organic pipelines, since in long-cycle sales, both channels reinforce each other.

03 — Campaign Performance

What ran, and how each campaign performed

CTWA (Click-to-WhatsApp) for direct conversation triggers, and Traffic/Awareness to build warm audience pools for future retargeting. Primary metric: Cost per Result (CPR).

What worked, what didn't, and what's next

✔ What worked

+41% efficiency MoM	EFFICIENCY GREW MONTH OVER MONTH Blended efficiency went from 33× (Feb) to 46.79× (Mar). The TOF audiences built in February became the warm pool that converted in March, exactly how a healthy long-cycle funnel compounds over time.
−29% CPA month over month	ACQUISITION COST KEPT GOING DOWN CPA per jamaah dropped from IDR 1.23M (Feb) to IDR 867K (Mar). With packages starting at IDR 41.9M, ad spend is less than 2% of the transaction value, strong unit economics for a high-ticket offer.
19,294 Landing page views	TOF BECAME NEXT MONTH'S REVENUE February's TOF campaign filled the retargeting pool that March's BOF campaigns converted from. In a long sales cycle, what you invest at the top of the funnel today shows up in your closing numbers weeks later.

⚠ What didn't

4 BOF campaigns overlapping	BOF AUDIENCE POOL WAS TOO SMALL Running 4 BOF campaigns in parallel caused audience overlap, which drove CPR up to IDR 30K–52K. The retargeting pool simply wasn't large enough to support that many simultaneous campaigns without cannibalizing each other.
88% ➡ 40% qualified leads Feb → Mar	LEAD QUALITY DROPPED AS REACH SCALED Qualified leads fell from 88% (Feb) to 40% (Mar) as the campaign reached colder, broader audiences. More volume doesn't always mean more quality, targeting needs a tighter qualifier layer in the creative or audience setup.

📌 What next

19,294 LP visitors ready to retarget	ACTIVATE LPWA RETARGETING No LPWA campaign ran during this period — a missed opportunity. With 19K+ landing page visitors already in the pool, LPWA is the natural next conversion lever, giving hot audiences a second path to convert beyond WhatsApp.
1% Lookalike from jama'ah registered	EXPAND BOF WITH LOOKALIKE AUDIENCES To fix the audience overlap issue, the BOF pool needs to grow. Building a 1% Lookalike from existing buyers and extending custom audience retention windows will give more room to scale without campaigns competing against each other.
